ELBA IN 1897

One Of Founders Of Clipper Tells 30 Year Old News.

(By Judge M. S. Carmichael)

Perhaps the greatest difference between the present time and the summer of 1897 is in business conditions. There was not a bank in Coffee County, as against the six that are here now.

Values were vastly different from what they are now. An idea of values may be obtained from the fact that in 1897 the total assessed valuation of property in Coffee County was less than a million dollars, and to the best of my belief the ratio of assessed value was about the same then as now. Property was really very much cheaper in every line. A day's work on a farm brought fifty to sixty cents. Cotton sold around six cents a pound for a long period, except that in 1898, in the second year of the Clipper's life, it went to four cents for good cotton, but there was very little good cotton in Coffee County that year and much of it sold way below four cents.

I can not believe that as many people worked regularly then as do now. While a great many people lived about as well and were as well off then as now, it is my recollection that a great many others were not so well off. It seems to take activity and progress to put people to work and enable them to have the necessities and comforts of life.

Some very prudent, industrious and thrifty people were making money, that is, were getting ahead in the world. They were not getting ahead fast, but slowly. Many others were living hard.

Commercial fertilizers had come into use long before 1897, but the price of farm products did not induce the heavy use of guano. The yield per acre and per plow were very much lower than now, not only in the money value but in the amounts the crops yielded. If any one had prophesied that farming would come back, that farmers would be re-actively well to do, would ride in automobiles and have bank accounts, he would have been considered crazy.

McLaren's Peaches.

In 1898 W. B. Howard and his son, from Laverne, located in Elba to run a saw mill and variety works. A Mr. Brunson came with them, but was not in business.

He was an elderly man, reputed to be wealthy, and was a kinsman of the Howards. All of them were high class people and Elba would have been fortunate if they had stayed, but after a short while they went back to Laverne. One of their employees was a Mr. McLaren, an unusually well informed man, and a very entertaining talker. On one occasion the question of cotton prices was being discussed, and as McLaren was in the winter of 1892-9, when prices were the lowest for more than half a century, the subject was of interest. McLaren said one of the participants would mean good times and good living conditions. McLaren asserted that none of us would ever live to see ten cent cotton, which brought the inquiry as to why he said this. McLaren had the answer, had it put and plausible. He explained that cotton occupied a certain position in the textile world in that it was surrounded by other fibers well known in commerce and capable of much wider production. He told how silk and linen could be used for fine goods, and jute and sisal for cheap goods. Said he, "If cotton were to be scarce enough to approach the ten cent price mark, why for cheap and heavy goods pite and sisal would drive it out of the cheap coarse goods market, while linen and silk would remain for cotton to furnish, and the price would never reach ten cents." He had some authorities for what he was saying, and quoted them. McLaren believed what he was saying and so did his hearers, including myself. Yet in less than two years from the time the remark was made, cotton sold on the streets of Elba, in the fall of 1900, for ten cents a pound. I had seen ten cent cotton once before in my life, for a few days in November, 1892, but as I remember,

YOUNG WHITE MAN IS KILLED WHEN TRUCK OVERTURNS ON ELBA-OPP ROAD.

William Sowell, young white man 17 or 18 years of age, died last Friday night from injuries received when a truck overturned on the new Elba-Opp highway, about five miles west of Elba.

From reports received, it seems that Sowell with two companions left the home of Mr. Matt Parrish for a visit to the road camp on the highway. The truck was equipped with a high-speed attachment and in some way this was thrown out of gear and the truck backed off a small hill and overturned. Sowell was caught underneath the body, the corner striking him in the left side. He was so badly crushed that death resulted within a few minutes after he reached a local hospital for medical attention. Other occupants of the car were not seriously injured.

Sowell had been employed for some time as a truck driver with a crew engaged in road work. However, he was not driving the truck at the time of the fatal accident.

He was son of Mr. Frank Sowell, a well known farmer, who lives near Falco. The body was prepared for burial by Bonneau-Jeter Hardware Company, and carried to the home of his father Saturday afternoon, where the burial occurred. Friends of the young man deeply regret his untimely death.

PARTY FOR VISITORS

Little Misses Flora and Jeanette Slough of Dothan were entertained at a party given by Miss Doris Whitman at her home Tuesday night. The home was profusely decorated with flowers, and the lawn was used by the guests during the night. Games were enjoyed, and punch and sandwiches were served as refreshments. Many of the younger social set of the town were present, and a delightful time was reported by all.

Mrs. Besie Ford and daughter, Mrs. Katherine of Dothan were guests of Mrs. J. B. Higgins last week.

that was the only time before 1900 that I saw it. McLaren's logic was all right, but there must have been some defect in his figuring. I am glad he was wrong, and if he is still living I am sure that he is.

Officers Omitted.

I have expected to be bombarded with criticisms about errors, especially of omission. But I have been fortunate, for every one who has mentioned remembering what I have written about has said that I have remembered as they did. When I mentioned county officers of 1897 left out two, and I hastened to mention them before any one calls my attention to their omission. G. E. McGowan, reared in Escambia, was County Solicitor, an important office in those days, for County Court was important. Carlos Roberts was County Superintendent of Education. He was a handsome young man who married an equally handsome young woman soon after I came to Coffee County. I recall that on one occasion Roberts had to bring his state school money, all in silver, from the railroad point out side the county. In those days the superintendent was paid money and the actual money was paid to the teachers, except at such times as the state did not have it, which happened every now and then in the nineties. Roberts was beginning farming and has since become a wealthy farmer. He is still interested in public matters, but has been so only in such ways as have not required him to seek office—he is willing to mix in and have some fun, but he got over office seeking after a few terms as superintendent.

November, 1892, but as I remember,

Coffee County Probate Judges

JUDGE F. M. RUSHING

(By Judge J. A. Carnley)

Judge Rushing held the office of Probate Judge from November 1, 1897, to August, 1899, the Coffee County Court contracted with the Paddy Jail Company for repairs of the County Jail at the price of $3000.00, payable in five years, giving five notes of $600 each bearing 8 per cent interest. These repairs were to consist of sanitary arrangements and heaters. This was the jail on Simmons Street, constructed by Judge Stevens. This old building is now used as a residence, and the sewerage system installed by Judge Rushing is still intact and in use by the Town of Elba, the same being abandoned during Judge S. N. Rowe's administration, and a new jail built at the end of Court street near Pen River.

In October, 1896, Commissioners J. M. Roberts, E. D. Bryan, W. J. Mitchell and B. F. Taylor held their last term of the Court a new Court having been elected in August, 1896. The family, Messrs. W. J. Spurlin, W. C. Vaughn, J. M. Crumpler and A. L. Wilson. These held their first term with Judge Rushing in January, 1897.

It may be noted here that two of the Commissioners who served with Judge Rushing from 1897 to 1898 are not living, namely Messrs. J. M. Roberts and W. J. Mitchell, while Messrs. W. J. Spurlin, W. C. Vaughn, A. L. Wilson, and J. M. Crumpler are now dead, Mr. Crumpler having survived the others and having recently died.

The election in 1896 brought other changes in County officials. Hon. A. L. Lewis was elected Representative and Hon. J. B. Lightner was elected Sheriff and Prof. C. E. Roberts was elected County Superintendent of Education. The term of County Superintendent of Education at that time was only two years. Hon. Aaron S. Head was elected Treasurer and Hon. B. D. Bowdoin was elected Tax Collector and Hon. J. M. Talley was elected Tax Assessor.

The new Court of County Commissioners took up the matter of a vault was built in March, 1898, they contracted with F. B. & W. S. Hall to build an annex to the Court House at a cost of $2500. This work was done by Mr. G. L. Youngblood, agent of the contractors. This annex was built of brick at the east end of the old Court House, with three rooms on the first floor and one room on the second floor, and also the painting of the building and repainting of the chimneys. The same contractors built the vault at a cost of $1100. The total tax collections for the County in 1898 had increased to approximately $10,000. All permanent improvements made to this date had been made by time warrants or notes payable in annual installments and bearing 8 per cent interest.

JIM KNIGHT WRITES FRIEND ABOUT BIG FLOOD IN MISSISSIPPI COUNTRY.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Arthur Brunson, The Clipper is publishing a letter received several days ago from Mr. Jim Knight, former sheriff of Coffee county, and for many years a resident here. For several years Mr. Knight has made his home in Mississippi, and he is in the area which has gone through the terrible flood. His letter tells of the situation, and we feel sure Jim's numerous friends in the county will read with interest his letter. The letter follows:

Glen Allen, Miss, June 12th, 1927.

Mrs. A. C. Brunson,
Elba, Alabama.

Dear Arthur—

Your letter came last week and I have wanted to write to you earlier, any thing. The water has been falling for the last ten days, and I have been trying to get a little cotton planted, and have about one hundred and fifty acres planted and up, but am afraid that the water will get a part of that for the river is rising again now, and is going to cover a lot of land that had been out and planted. I do not believe now that the water will be off all the land before the 15th of July and maybe not then, it is only off the high places now.

The conditions here have been something awful and are now for that matter, but since some of the high land is out gives a chance to spread out and that helps, for the reason and the stock have all been crowded on all high spots. There have been lots of people drowned and there is no way of telling just what the loss will be of mules and cattle and hogs. You cannot imagine anything about what it has been without you could have seen it. The water was about 150 miles one way and about 70 the other with every thing under water with the exception of just a few high places on Lake Banks. Our home did not go under but it was at the front gate and the back fence, in fact there was a strip here of about fifty to a hundred feet wide and about two miles long that did not go under water, but that was all. Big steam boats came right in to Glendon, and loaded right in the street. We have had no trains since the 22nd of April, and only get mail from the River when we can. We have no way of getting out or in only in gas boats, and that is very dangerous, for some one drowned every few days, for in places the current is awful.

The loss to the people here is something fierce, and there is no way of getting what the outcome will be, for there will be no crops of any kind planted on most of the land, and the water is still in lots of the houses, and the people do not know what to do or what they can do. The Red Cross has done wonderful work, in fact if it had not been for the help from them I do not know what we would have done, for we could not have cared for all these negroes. It has about finished me up. I will not be able to plant but very little and it is so late I am afraid that it will not make anything, but you have got to try. On all my land on the river the water is four feet deep now, but so far I have not lost any of my stock but on lots of places they have lost all their stock. On one place here they lost over a hundred and fifty mules. The water came in so fast they did not have time to get them on high land and then, too, there was lots of places that had never been under water that people thought was safe that went under this time, and that caused so much loss in live stock. It would take a month to write you all of the conditions, and I will have to wait until I see you this summer and tell you about it, but surely do appreciate your writing to me about the condition, and I would love to see you in the world to have you come to see me, but I would not want you to come now, for there is no way of getting here only in gas boats, and then, every thing is so crowded up that you would not enjoy it, and I want you to wait until the water goes down and then come and we can see some of the country.

With best wishes, and kindest regards to you and family.

I am, Your friend, Jim Knight.

CHARLEY CULVER, COLORED, IS KILLED TUESDAY BY ANOTHER NEGRO.

Charley Culver, negro man about 30 years of age, was shot and killed Tuesday afternoon by another negro, Dennis Coon. The killing took place on the plantation of Mr. Fountain Lee, about five miles above town.

Soon after the killing Coon came to Elba and surrendered to the sheriff and was placed in jail. Coon used a shot gun and shot Culver at close range, the head of shot together with the wadding taking effect in the dead man's side. According to a statement which is said to have been made by Coon, it seems that the negroes had had some previous trouble. Coon claims that Culver came to the field where he was at work and cursed him, and threatened him with a knife. Sometime thereafter Coon went to a nearby house and secured a shot gun. The negroes again met on the roadside, and Coon claims that Culver again drew his knife, when the shooting occurred. After being shot Culver closed his knife and put it in his pocket and walked a few yards to where his son was standing. He then collapsed and was dead in an instant. This version of the shooting is given by Coon. It is said that the trouble arose over a woman, but the partners of this affair were not learned.

Both negroes lived on Mr. Lee's plantation and were well known in that section.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Vaughn of Dothan and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vaughn of Troy were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Vaughn Monday.

THE BAPTIST PASTOR

(Contributed)

Many things have happened in this world to marvel at. Many events have taken place in Elba to marvel at. But the zealousness and earnestness with which our Baptist pastor labored in the pursuit of lost souls during the recent revival is above all to be marveled at. Not that his true self has at last been revealed, but that his efforts and love have multiplied to such an extent that they reached hearts that had never before been touched. It took personal contact and brotherly love to do that.

The town of Elba should be proud to claim Rev. T. C. Mahan as her own. He is a credit to our city. He would be a credit to any city. Majestic yet humble in life, serene yet staunch in the pulpit, commanding yet loving on the streets, we shall ever remember him. And that memory will ever be an unspoken benediction, and that benediction will ever be an everlasting exhortation.

The Baptist are fortunate in having in their midst one whose heart is filled with love for all and whose untiring efforts have built up the church from chaos to a stronghold of religion. It has been many a year since so great a revival has been experienced in the Baptist church as that which has just past. And Brother Mahan with his influence was the great tool in all of it's successes. What greater life could mortal man contribute?

IN MEMORY OF MRS. B. J. CARDWELL

—O—

She's gone. The "tis our loss we know the Heaven's gain. There has never been a more devoted wife and mother. She did everything in her power, as long as she was able, to please her husband and was always foolish about her children.

Before her marriage on January, 21st, 1887 to Mr. Cardwell she was Nancy Matheny, born and reared in Coffee County, only a few miles from where she died.

Having been born before the 'sixties' (June 30th, 1848), she knew something about the hard times of the war, and reconstruction days.

For several years prior to her death her health had been bad, and she was forced to spend most of her time at home. She had not been out of the house during the last two years.

She was the mother of seven children. Six are still living, namely: Effie C. Fowler, Clarksville, Ark.; Zack Cardwell, Victoria, Ala.; Fox Cardwell, Hartford, Conn.; Carlisle Cardwell, Victoria, Cos. C. Cardwell, Enterprise; Elmer Cardwell, Troy, Ala.

In 1873 she joined the Missionary Baptist Church, having her membership with Bethlehem Church at Victoria, Alabama.

Loved one—and mother: Sleep on, and rest. Tho' we miss you—'twas hard to give you up; there's a vacancy in our hearts which will never be filled—yet we know there is a place waiting you around the great white throne of God.

By Request, W. M. Farris.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION 15 DAYS BEFORE MARRIAGE

—O—

Every person who desires to be a party to a marriage in Alabama, man or woman, will be required to pass a medical examination within 15 days of the wedding under a bill which received the approval of the house committee on public health.

Eight years ago the legislature enacted a law which required all men to pass a satisfactory examination and to present to the probate judge a certificate of a qualified physician showing that he was not suffering with any diseases mentioned in the law. Since it has proved satisfactory advocates of examination seek to have it extended to women.

BAPTIST CHURCH EVANGELISM BROTHERHOOD UNION

—O—

A Brotherhood organization was formulated at a six o'clock dinner held at the First Baptist Church last Wednesday night. This organization consists of the men of the church, and is the initial attempt of an organization of this kind by the church.

At this time officers for the ensuing year were elected. They included: S. H. Brock, president; W. H. Rainer, vice president; O. A. Ellis, secretary; and T. D. Kendrick, treasurer.

This organization is expected to bring about greater fellowship among the members of the church, and will add impetus to its work.

Men desiring to join this organization are requested to see the secretary, O. A. Ellis at once, according to word given out by Rev. T. C. Mahan, pastor of the church.

It is estimated that the 115,000,000 people in the United States spend annually $1,015,000,000 to keep their bodies in repair. This includes drugs, doctors' services, and hospitals.

The total number of radies on farms in the United States has grown from 553,003 as of July, 1925, to 1,231,148 on April 1, 1927. The 1927 total is 125 per cent. higher than the 1925 figures and nearly four times as great as the total of 1924.

COUNTY AGENT TELLS HOW TO CARE FOR CREAM DURING SUMMER.

From now until fall we will have a surplus of butter accumulating at nearly all creameries in Alabama. This is not due to an overproduction of butter but to a lowering of the quality of the butter produced, due to the quality of the cream received. It is necessary for the cream shippers to assist the butter makers during this season if a good price is to be obtained for the butter, and the butter keep moving into the markets.

The first essential for high-grade cream is the use of properly cleaned dairy utensils. The buckets, cans, and separator parts should be rinsed in warm water after being used, then washed thoroughly in warm water with soap or washing powder, and then rinsed again with boiling water and placed out in the sun until ready to use. The warm cream from the separator should be cooled immediately after cooling mixed with the older cream, stirring the whole thoroughly. The cream can be kept in a spring, if one is available, or in a tub of cold water. The water in this tub should be changed several times daily. It is advisable to use small cans during the summer months so that they can be filled and shipped at least twice each week.

By getting clean separators and the butter makers as to the kind of cream they are gradually increasing the quality of our butter. It is to the interests of both to do this, and it can be done with much less work than is required of the whole milk producers.

CHIEF JUSTICE ANDERSON DENIES FINAL APPEAL FOR BATCHELOR.

Tuesday's Montgomery Journal: Denying the motion of Clyde Reese Batchelor, sentenced to be electrocuted at Kilby penitentiary on July 15 for the murder of his father-in-law, Judge Lamar C. Smith, of Wetumpka, the supreme court of Alabama today wrote this to the famous murder case.

Chief Justice John C. Anderson, today announced that he would file a petition for a writ of error with one of the judges of the United States supreme court this week. The court is not in session at Washington now, but Mr. Anderson today was endeavoring to locate Justice Edward Sanford, of Knoxville, to file a petition for a writ of error with one of the associates of the members of the court.

If Justice Sanford is at home the petition seeking a suspension of sentence, will be filed before him, Mr. Anderson said. Such action is said to be very unusual and it is the last and only hope Batchelor has of obtaining a suspension of the sentence, unless Governor Graves can be persuaded to grant a stay of execution.

Counsel for Batchelor have made every attempt to delay until trial. The case has attracted wide attention. Batchelor is confined in the death cell at Kilby. He is sentenced to be electrocuted between midnight and daybreak of July 15, only 10 days off.
